

Learning Plant Language Workshops (2017)

conducted by Wayne Smith (agronomy.com.au)

Learn what is wrong with the nutrition of your crops just by looking at them. Text books show one deficiency at a time, but most crops have several nutritional problems and some are also droughted or waterlogged or diseased etc. You can still see what is wrong and know which problem needs to be fixed first. Workshops are 3.5 hours and include a book showing all the slides presented. Morning / afternoon tea is included. Cost is $275 inc GST. per person.

Expressions of interest are now being taken to run LPL workshops in Western Australia in the last two weeks of July 2017. If you want one in your area, please call us ASAP.

Each workshop is either 8:30am registration for a 9:00am start, or a 12:30pm registration for a 1:00pm start. Only the morning workshops have the opportunity to have a few hours walk in the afternoon in neighbouring paddocks to put into practice what was just learnt.

Please call or email to register your interest on 08-9842 1949 (8am-3pm WA time) or office@agronomy.com.au
